Top 10 reasons to be a member of AAF Indianapolis

1. Recognition of creative excellence. ADDY Awards are the largest and most well recognized advertising award in the world. Local winners are publicized across central Indiana. Indianapolis consistently sends winners to the regional and national levels, bringing attention to our industry and the great work being done locally.

2. Professional development. Informative programs keep skills sharp and challenge thinking. Our national speaker series brings industry leaders from across the county. Additionally, custom programs are presented throughout the year for each of our special interest groups targeting the unique interests of agency owners and principles, account executives, media planners and buyers, creatives and sales representatives.

3. Networking. Build your personal and professional network thorough our Advertising and the Arts Program, Golf Outing, Merry Mingle and other events throughout the year.

4. New business promotion. Promote your agency and support the Advertising industry in Indianapolis.

5. Promote LOCAL agencies and allied fields. AAF Indianapolis is the leading voice calling for the use of local agencies, talent and production services

6. Advocate for our industry. AAF Indianapolis joined the call for legislation to encourage film production in Indiana. We are strong opponents of sales tax on business to business services and advertising which would penalize outsourcing creative and production services and cripple the communications industry.

7. Discounts and member savings. Save money with member discounts on AAF programs plus major discounts on: Major trade publications, Health and business insurance, Small package shipments, Car rental and more.

8. Low cost. Annual membership is much lower than other professional organizations.

9. Job Bank. Member companies and individuals can post listings for advertising, sales and marketing jobs online at no cost.

10. Grow the best talent. Our college programs and the national AAF annual college competition prepares the best and brightest. Engage and encourage Indiana college students as they prepare for their careers in advertising.
